THE NEW BOLSA.

The opening of the new Bolsa in Calle Piedad yesterday was after all an event of infinitely less significance to most of us, than the closing of the old Bolsa in Calle San Martin, around which cling so many memories and associations; and if there was any lack of solemnity at yesterday's inauguration and a want of outward show to catch the public eye, it was amply made up for by the retrospective countenances of all who bid adieu to the old building to take their places in the new.

It may be considered premature on our part to pronounce at the very outset the arrangements of the new Bolsa defective, but the general opinion expressed in the Hall yesterday was that the Brokers' ring, blackboard &c. are all a dead failure; no one could read the figures on the board, no one could find out his broker; the echo was such that even the brokers standing around the ring could not catch the bids made by their colleagues whilst the outside public could see nothing, and know nothing of what was doing; en fin everyone was dissatisfied and discontented, and we propose that the gold ring be placed in the middle of the Hall, with an outer ring such as the plan in Paris.

Mr. Legarreta, President of the Bolsa with the members of the Camara syndical and fifty or sixty brokers walked in procession from the old Bolsa to the new one. They started at 12 o'clock which is an hour ill suited for the majority of Bolsa members who breakfast at half past 11, but nevertheless, the procession was sufficiently numerous to attract some little notice in the streets through which it passed.

If we recollect aright the most prominent person in the founding and starting of the old Bolsa in Calle San Martin was Mr. Willson Jacobs, of whose colleagues in that enterprise many, very many are dead and gone. Conceiving that a few mems from our old hand-book and from the old files of the STANDARD, about our old Bolsa will interest most of our readers we give the following extract:—

"In the time of Rosas there was no Bolsa, but the merchants and brokers used to have a rendezvous at one or other private office. About twenty years ago there was a 'Camuati' at the house now occupied by Manigot, the hatter, in Calle Florida; this is a Guarani word signifying a beehive, and the name was well applied to the various points of re-union, as circumstances obliged a change of locality from time to time. The house which is now the Tribuna office was expressly taken for the purpose, and a kind of society established, till put down by the police agents of Rosas. A French broker named Loiseau took a house next the public baths in Calle Piedad and revived the association: subsequently it removed to Calle Victoria, and then to Calle Piedad, next door to the Café de Suizos, where it was again put down by the police. A few days after the fall of Rosas (1852) the 'Camuati' again assembled, in a store belonging to Mr. Armstrong, near the corner of Piedad and Reconquista. It was transferred to Haedo's house in Calle San Martin, and on the 10th July, 1854, a regular Bolsa was established, at a meeting of 118 merchants and brokers in the hall of the Tribunal of Commerce. A committee was framed of Messrs. Llavallol, Gowland, Moreno, Monasterio, Pico, Biedma, Bornefield, Casares, Martinez de Hoz, Lynch, Serna, and Sorondo, who took the house where Mr Hart's office now is, and here the Bolsa was located for some years. In 1860 it was resolved to build a new Bolsa, and a joint-stock company was formed, with a capital of $1,380,000 in shares of 1,000 each: the building was completed in a year and a half, and inaugurated with great pomp by Gen. Mitre, in February 1862."—River Plate Handbook 1868.

The STANDARD of February 1862, reports the following:—

"The new building destined for buying and selling money, as also for affording a pleasant chat on things in general, was inaugurated to-day, with all the formality attending state ceremonies, and the splendour that is imparted by an extended view of champagne bottles, &c. &c.

At fourteen minutes past two, the sun being in Post Meridian glory, an anxious crowd of vulgar gazers saw some 500 of the members enter the new edifice.

"O diés terque felix, terque beata.

Gentle reader, this is not the inscription over the door, for that was blotted out, because 'twas ugly; but the above classic quotation bubbles up from the Pieirian spring, on the inspiration of the moment.

"Well, then, soon after the "cinqcent," which in Italian signifies men "of the middle age," i.e., middle-aged men (excuse the parenthesis), Mitre appeared, and the business of the day was proceeded with. Pop! pop! How expertly would these civic hands manage the rifle, if the accuracy of their aim equalled to the activity of their firing. Toasts were of course given, and probably responded to.

"The meeting was highly contented, and the day reckoned a regular "success." No harping critics were present to note down rhetorical blunders, or if they were, the wine was good, and that made amends.

"With their accustomed liberality, the members had provided an abundance of good cheer, and whether all the guests had not come, or whether there was too much of the refreshments it was resolved to invite the "public" that stood grinning outside, to these select Bacchanals.

"Then there was a fresh onset by willing combatants, and this was a capital stroke at popularity; our informant came away, full of a most enthusiastic admiration of the New Bolsa and its generous shareholders."

To write the history of this old Bolsa would indeed be an ambitious task. Fortunes were lost and made there, brokers and merchants and bankers rose and sank there, business of every category and dimensions was transacted within its walls; politics at times entered the door and escaped through the window. The ring was moved, changed and removed so often that only when it usurped the whole hall was it in its proper place. With delicate courtesy we eliminate all the names of all those who during its long career figured most prominently in its affairs, and within its jurisdiction, nor shall we hold to the mirror those whose genius and talent have led them through the maze to fame, fortune and independence, or point to the wrecked crowd whose cenotaph of ruin is the building. We have but one point to make in the history of this Bolsa, and that is that in all its long and chequered history, in all its innumerable affairs, in all the throes of trouble, revolution, excitement and civil war, the floor of the Bolsa was always consecrated ground, beyond alike the schemes of politicians, or the power, empire or jurisdiction of the sword. We have all witnessed black days enough in Buenos Aires since the hour when General Mitre quaffed his bumper of champagne and baptized the then new Bolsa, yet, never even in the darkest political period was the independence of the Bolsa tampered with, and when the other day Congress thought it time to legislate for the Bolsa, its President, with the spirit of Leonidas, gave the Senators their proper answer.

Spite of all that is urged against the Bolsa and its speculation, we strongly maintain that as an institution it merits all our support, and Buenes Aires would be in a very bad way without it.

The new Bolsa is a stately, magnificent pile, but arrangements are new and defective; the tile floor is cold in the winter months, and the side aisles, or precincts of the Hall, are comfortless for the want of chairs and tables. In the hot summer months it will be beyond question the coolest and most agreeable place in the whole city, and the reading room upstairs has a commanding view of the Plaza and the Government House. The old Bolsa, we understand, is to be sold by auction and Mr. Arriola as 'decano' will be the auctioneer.

SPAIN AND GERMANY.

WAR IMMINENT.

FEARFUL EXCITEMENT IN MADRID.

It looks as if the long-threatened general blaze in Europe is about to burst forth. Bismarck, foiled in the East in his hope of setting Russia and England by the ears, and being thereby enabled to fall on the former and seize her Baltic provinces, has been more successful in the West; and, is France be not very cautious, which she if most unlikely to be, the war trumpet will be sounding again on the Old Continent before the year, or perhaps the month, is out. The net was spread for her, not for Spain. The following bulletin, issued by the Correo Español yesterday, shows how very serious the German-Spanish imbroglio looks. Alfonso's crown is not worth a week's purchase.

Madrid, 6th.

A German gunboat has arrived at Yap Island and landed troops. They tore down the Spanish flag and hoisted the German in its place, in the very presence of the Spanish men of war, of which there were two; but orders from Madrid forced them to submit in silence to the outrage, and the commander confined himself to a protest.

When this news became known in Madrid, the populace poured into the streets, mad with rage, and rushed to the German Embassy. The police were put to flight in a few seconds; the peopled scaled the balcony, tore down the Imperial escutcheon and flag, and dragged them through the mud shouting "Death to Bismarck!" "Down with Germany!" "Down with the Conservative Government!" "Down with the Uhlan King!"

The police again attempted to oppose the people at the Puerta del Sol; but were again beaten and some of them wounded. A big bonfire was made opposite the Government House, and the German shield and flag were tossed into it and burned up amid wild yells of delight from the excited populace.

The German Minister only escaped being torn to pieces by hiding, it is not known where.

A German toyshop in Calle Montera, from which hung a German flag, was completely wrecked by the people.

The Government is completely demoralised, and, to save itself, is going to court-martial the commanders of the vessels for having misunderstood their orders!!!

If war be not declared within 48 hours, a revolution is certain.

Madrid 6th.

The police are quite unable to restrain the populace: Several arrests made, and many wounded. A hostile demonstration was made against the President of the Council.

There is a grave rumour that the king has fled from the capital incognito. On the other hand, it is said His Majesty has summoned several leading public men to give him their advice. The troops are confined to barracks, and great vigilance is observed all over the city. The Civil Guards and police are on duty at the German Embassy. The flag has not been rehoisted, and it is believed the personnel have taken refuge in the British Embassy.

Madrid 7th.

The commanders of the Spanish ships at Yap declare that they simply obeyed orders, and if, within the time required for a telegraphic message to reach them confirming their orders, to save their loyalty and patriotism in face of their country, they will attack the German ships and either vindicate their honour or fall like Gravina.

Germany has demanded by telegraph immediate reparation for the insult in Madrid, threatening war, if refused.

The people of Spain have already declared war.

A German squadron is off the Carolinas.

Madrid 7th.

The manifestations of public wrath continue. Hostile mobs are hooting and shouting opposite the offices of the Cabinet Ministers. The President of Council has been attacked by the mob. The troops have been ordered into the streets; but the little energy they display shows clearly that they fraternise with the people. The Government has not dared up to the present to give them decided orders.

(We call on all Spaniards to come to our office at once to decide on a plan of action.)

LONDON LETTER.

ODDS AND ENDS — PARTICULARLY ODDS.

(From our own Correspondent.)

July 30th.

"True"—thus saith the Pall-Mall of to-night. Trusting in the Archbishop of Canterbury, and in the Cardinal Archbishop of Westminster, it has triumphed, and its enemies are cast down. The Mansion House Committee has given in its report, saying "that we are satisfied that, taken as a whole, the statements made in the Pall-Mall Gazette are substantially true." The committee, consisting of the two prelates mentioned, with Mr. Samuel Morley, and Mr. R. T. Reid, Q.C., do not undertake to verify all the facts stated in the "Maiden Tribute," but the evils therein exposed exist, and are substantially as represented by the secret commission of the newspaper.

The committee, like the newspaper, is anxious to guard itself against bringing charges against individuals or classes! The Pall-Mall itself acknowledges only to one exception of its own in these respects—the "Minotaur of London"—and as for absolute exactitude as to fact it confesses to one error.

Before I go on, let me remind you that the Times of this morning alluded to Mr. Delahunty, when excitedly speaking of the "one pound note," and of his using a term of contempt for that piece of paper that would be considered unparliamentary, "even in these times of laxity;" therefore, it is a question of "these times," when big questions are coming to the front, and plain speaking is the order of the day,

I, for one, sided with the Pall-Mall against the humbug—the unrighteousness—of affected purity, which I knew covered professional envy in some, and the fear of being found out in others. In the same way, I venture to oppose the humbug that, with the excellent motive of casting out the devils within us, would leave us less than men, granting, that as philosophers imagine, in years to come sensuality will cease, as pain and sensation may cease. We are yet far distant from the goal. When our present guides and moralists are Spurgeons, or even the good Bishop of Bedford who, "in face of the hidden wickedness disclosed, would make profligacy a social disqualification."

I say the wickedness is not hidden, and that it is now as it has existed, and does exist, in all populous cities of the world. In the prevailing system of society no political Utopia can be more abused than this moral Utopia of priest and parson. If, as the Bishop of Bedford says, "the church has not been idle," so much the better, for, in its way, the church in this respect strikes at the root of the evil; but what is to be feared is that the Legislature, prompted by the over-moral people, may, by imposing penalties and restrictions do an incalculable harm. We, in London, who are old enough to remember the efforts of legislation, and the police in that direction, know that much of the "hidden wickedness," now revealed, has sprung from these very restrictions. In one of my recent letters to you I wrote in the "lax" language of the hour and meant it, of the immorality of the poor. This very day, in one of the papers, I see a letter confirming that view. The bishops do not see these things. Let any sensible man ask himself the question, what has Mrs. Jefferies, what have the Guards, the Minotaur, or the be-starred and the be-gartered of Mr. Spurgeon's hate to do with these horrors? I think I am no friend to "stars', or "garters," in that shape, but I exonerate these wealthy reprobates in their case. The evil is much deeper. Their vices are but drops in an ocean of immorality, and the cause is political. Onr lower classes are still degraded, and to speak of cheap tea and sugar, enhanced wages, free trade, and our progress and their progress, is mockery in face of thet hideous truth.

The affairs of the Munster Bank have taken an unpleasant and gloomy tenor. In the first place the Bank of Ireland refused to make any further advances, as the security offered for £500,000 additional was not thought sufficient; and this morning we have news of the too frequent and now usual "hidden wickedness," which is the cause of these misfortunes. It is all part of the same system of society. Mr. H. Farquharson, one of the joint managers in Dublin, has absconded! A warrant is out for his arrest, charging him with falsification of his accounts and embezzlement of a sum of £10,000. In going over the accounts, the committee of shareholders noticed some alterations in figures in books under the sole control of Mr Farquharson, and pressed him for explanation. He promised to explain away the discrepancies, but did not appear at the office during the day. The police are on his track and we expect to hear hourly of his capture. He is a native of Galashiels, and from the evidence of one of the stewards of a Holyhead steamer, he crossed over to England on Tuesday night, 28th inst. He was one of the chief witnesses against the clerk, charged with the robbery of £5,000 in gold, and suspicion in reference to that robbery is now fully turned against Mr. Farquharson. A telegram was received in Dublin to-day from the deputation from the Munster Bank shareholders in London, stating that the reconstruction scheme submitted to the London accountants, Messrs. Quilter Bell & Co, had been approved and said by those gentlemen to be perfectly feasible.

An amusing correspondence is going on in the Times and other papers recounting the grievances of English tourists in Scotland. The letters are generally headed "The Scotch Autocrat of the breakfast table." You know the dry independence of the Scotch middle classes, and also the fussiness of Englishmen when away from home, expecting to be served with the same speed and obsequiousness they meet with in populous and competition-ridden large towns in England. The Englishmen in Scotland—I am speaking always of Trans-grampian or Ultra-foithian Scotland—gets up at impossible hours and says to the blooming Scotchman "bwing bweakfast." The kindly Scot, anxious to offer to his victim an alternative, says—"may be you are going by the train?" "Yes I am" says the Englishman. "Ah" says the waiter "it's about gone man." "Then says the Englishman "I am not going by the train." "Then" says the Scot "ye'll just wait for the 'tartledote' at 9 o'clock." If any further objection is made the landlord is called in and suggests that the gentleman should go elsewhere or to the house opposite. That is an unkind cut, because as a rule in Scotland there is no house opposite; or anywhere near. In Ireland —bless the name—they treat us differently. "Ach yer honour" says the Irish waiter, "is it breakfast you want,' indeed you shall have it in no time." But devil a bit of breakfast the Englishman sees for an hour or more. It is very absurd that Englishmen of the common fussy kind cannot get up soul enough to enjoy themselves when they are away from home, and conform to the idiosyncracies of neighbouring counties, and much more countries. Everything in Scotland is done decently and in order—the order being, prayers, breakfast, luncheon, dinner and whisky. Ostensibly, rest follows when the lights are put out. Why disturb that pleasant arrangement by our own petulant and unaccommodating disposition?

The 'industriales' of the city are making a great push against the Lotteries, because they cannot now find boys for their workshops, as all the youngsters are engaged in selling tickets. The wail of those "industriales" is no doubt one word for the boys and public morality, and two, or ten, for their own interests. Nevetheless it would be well to squash all the Lotteries except the Capital, which maintains the city charities.

PARIS LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Paris, August 4th.

M. Maxime du Camp has asserted that only three nations can claim to be the mothers of civilization—Athens, that created the fine arts and philosophy; Rome, which founded jurisprudence, and France, that gave birth to equality —by her Revolution. Germany, however, can pretend to produce ideas, France perhaps to expound them, and England to utilize them. The Anglo-Saxons enjoyed not only the Rights, but practised the Duties of man, centuries before 1789. One virtue France cannot lay claim to, that of colonization, and the much-ado-about-nothing debate on Madagascar, which was only the occasion to launch electoral manifestoes to the country confirms that incapacity. Although M. Ferry has reappeared on the parliamentary stage, to remake his political fortune, France is not with him in his programme of using the men and money of the peasants of the third republic, in occupying the waste corners of the universe; ousting the inferior races, or taking possession of Kroumir vine yards.

Had France any surplus population; had she emigrants, and emigrants who would bring into their new homes the tenacity and energy they display in the mother country, one might have the elements of a colonial future. But she lacks the conditions; her existing colonies are not models of prosperity; Frenchmen themselves fly them; abandon the game to persevering foreigners. Could colonies spring into existence by merely rubbing Aladdin's lamp, all Frenchmen would cry aloud for them; as it is, the aim of securing unoccupied regions, irrespective of natural advantages and fitness, and the cost of protecting them etc. is the motive influence with many who conclude, the more the earth hunger of, France is satisfied, the more she will be powerful. It was the day-dream of poor Prevost Paradol to found New Frances. That which he depicted with a Claude-Melnotte imagination—fifty millions of Gauls peopling the shores of Northern Africa—is still a fantasy. When France is able to compete in the markets of the world with the cheaper goods of England, Germany, Switzerland and America, she will not require to expend her material, her natural resources in Tonkin, Congo, and Tunisian adventures, all so many weak points in her armour, whenever she may have to face foemen worthy of her steel. Under the long reign of Louis XIV, the springs of monarchy were forced, all was pushed to the extreme. The moment came when there was no more oil in the lamp. The present republic should note the moral.

Tonkin has opened the eyes of the French to prefer the homely 'pot-au-feu,' to M. Ferry's burned barons of beef, and the general elections will confirm that view. This explains why the peace with China proves a relief. And only think that in 1883, China for the majority of French, was a "quantité négligeable," and the invasion of Tonkin viewed merely as a military promenade. Now, France has to conquer all Annam and protect it into the bargain. She has for neighbor China, a power big enough to menace the White Czar, and is 12,000 miles from Toulon; she has also Burmah on her flank, and is under English influence; and her entrance to the Indian and Chinese Seas, is commanded by Perim and Singapore, to say nothing of the Southern Britain, Australia. French colonization is a game, which is not worth the candle. It is better to practise the philosophy of Candide, and cultivate the garden.

The death of the Mahdi, more certain than that of Olivier Pain, is another lucky chance for England. It is hoped that she will this time improve the occasion by allowing the Sudanese to arrange their home rule like the Kilkenny cats. There being now one False Prophet less in the world, and the money question arranged for Egypt, it is expected that next to evacuating the valley of the Nile, Lord Salisbury will soon propound a solution, that he who runs may read. More than the French are sick with the plan of dropping buckets into empty wells, and growing old in drawing nothing up, as embodied in the despatch of commissioners. It is a decision, not a report, which is required.

The Afghan cloud is viewed as passed away; its return will depend on the offensive, as well as the defensive frontiers, that India can set up. Here it is believed, that an understanding exists between John Chinaman and John Bull, as to pulling up Holy Russia. This view is not founded on the circumstance that the Arsenal of Tonchoo has been placed under the management of English, and no longer French officials. Admiral Courbet's goings on have left anything but sunny memories behind.

Milne-Edwards has died at the age of 85, full of honors, so France has lost one of her most eminent, naturalised sons. Only a few weeks ago, the deceased had been pensioned; since ten years he has been succeeded in his professorship by his son, also a distinguished scientist, and his lost decade was an uninterrupted devotion to his studies of natural history. His text-books are too well-known to require comment on his writings; the latter having the uniform character of clearness, division of work, and logical simplicity. Last year, several of his admirers and friends, presented a medal to him, to commemorate his life-work. At the funeral, one of the chief mourners was M. Chevreul, the chemist, aged 100; he had Milne Edwards 55 years ago, for pupil, and the old professor delivers lectures still. Milne-Edwards was born at Bruges, of English parents; his family originally came from Jamaica, and has been distinguished for its literary tastes. It was a brother of the deceased's that founded the ethnographical society of Paris. Milne Edwards, though he graduated in medicine, never practised it; but he did much to popularize that science also, by introducing fixity and clearness of classification.

It has been remarked that M. de Lesseps, after the general meetings of the Suez and Panama canals, becomes some years younger. He has just presided over the Panama annual gathering, as if he were in the flower of his age; the reading of the report lasted one hour, and he never was in the least fatigued. He denounced newspapers which sought to depreciate the company's stock, but that only wanted some of it, as hush money. Pity he did not name the sinning mortals. M. de Lesseps as time progresses, is more than ever confident, that the American Bosphorus, 47 miles long, or less than one-half the Suez way, will be completed within the contract money and the contract time. Authorization was given to raise 60 millions frs., build housing for 30,000 laborers, and finish the works rapidly and thoroughly. Three new excavating machines are being sent out; their prentice hands are being tried in the suburbs of Paris, as a sursum corda for any white-livered shareholders; the machines, like faith, remove mountains. A gentle hint was given to one disciple of St. Thomas, that if he believed the annual loss of the canal across the Colombian Cordilleras would be 150 fr. millions, why did he not sell out in time? The only danger M. de Lesseps cannot guard against, is earthquakes.

CALZETTA'S ISLAND AT THE TIGRE.

THE PLACE TO SPEND A HAPPY DAY.

"Choose such pleasures as recreate much, and cost little."
FULLER.

London has its pleasures, and in England the weary and worn can find renovation in a run down to the seaside from Saturday to Monday. A few hours at Richmond and Hampton Court, or a trip down the River in a Gravesend or Sheerness Boat. Here in Buenos Ayres all we have to choose from is, the camp, a species of 'land sea,' where there is hardly a tree to relieve the monotony, and where we see nothing but cattle and sheep. There is only one place near the city of Buenos Aires where a really enjoyable day can be spent, the fresh air obtained, and the health and spirits improved, and that place is the lovely Island of "Carapachy" formerly owned by the Crabtree family, and at present by our friend Domingo Calzetta, whose breakfasts "shine with reputation," and whose dinners "are the wonder of the nation."

Now that the summer is approaching Calzetta's will become the great holiday resort, and doubtless a number of pleasure seekers will make their way to the Tigre to-day.

The Tigre and its beautiful islands are so well known, that it is hardly necessary to dwell on their features. We purpose, however, making a few remarks regarding Carapachy, and what is to be found there.

The visitor to Calzetta's, on alighting at the Tigre Railway Station, which is reached from town, in rather less than no time, is conducted to the mole where the steam launch Crabtree waits the arrival of every train to convey passengers to Carapachy, distant some three miles further up. On arriving at Calzetta's an excellent breakfast including all the delicacies of the season, and the best wines may be obtained at very moderate cost, and the visitor is free to roam around the island, go boating or bathing, and amuse himself generally in any way he may please. Calzetta has made wonderful improvements in the accommodation at his hostelry, having built a fine comfortably furnished breakfast and dining saloon, and provided some excellent bedrooms for visitors desirous to stay a few days.

The island is some twenty squares in extent, and there are many lovely nooks and corners where true lovers could plight their troth or pic-nic parties enjoy themselves. Calzetta supplies everything to comfort the inner man at reasonable prices, and of the very best quality, and we understand, this season special bathing and boating facilities will be provided for pleasure seekers.

The island is now beginning to look lovely; the peach trees, whose name is legion, are in blossom, and an appearance of summer with all its brightness and happiness everywhere greets the eye.

The expense of a trip to Calzetta's, including steamer, breakfast etc, is a matter of a few dollars only, and we strongly recommend the worn out merchants, bankers, gold speculators or shop-keepers, to make for Carapachy to-day, and "every other holiday" during the summer season.

Domingo Calzetta caters well for the public, and is the most convenient man we know in the way of speaking different languages—English, French, Spanish, Italian, Dutch, Chinese and goodness knows what else.

Domingo for ever! An hotel-keeper is nowhere unless he be a linguist, and keeps the best wines.

MR. J. A. BLAKE.

This distinguished Irish tourist will leave to-day for Rosario en route for Mendoza and San Juan, to take a peep at the Andes. We wish him a pleasant trip and hope our friends in Rosario and Mendoza will show him the best side of everything. Mr. Blake during his sojourn in Australia delivered some interesting lectures on the Irish in China and Japan, which we have read with much pleasure, and we recommend him to the attention of our English Literary Society in the hope that before he leaves the Plate next month, the President of the society might prevail on him to give a lecture here. We extract the following from Dod's Parliamentary companion 1884 in order that our readers may know who Mr. Blake is.

Blake, John Aloysius, (Waterford co.) S. of Andrew Blake, Esq., of Waterford (descended from the Blakes of Renvyle, co. Galway), by Mary, d. of Patrick Galway, Esq., of Waterford. B. at Waterford, 1826; m. 1874, Adelaide Mary, youngest d. of Nicholas Mahon Power, Esq., of Faithlegg, co. Waterford, a Deputy-Lieut., and for some years M.P. for that co. Was educated at St. John's Coll., Waterford, and the Government Coll., Pau Basses, Pyrenees, France. Is a Magistrate for the city of Waterford, of which he was also Mayor for 3 years, 1855-6-7. Was Chairman of a Select Committee on Fisheries in 1868, and Chairman of a Royal Commission on Sea and Oyster Fisheries 1869; appointed Chairman of the Commission for selecting Fishery Harbours in Ireland 1883. Is author of several works, including "Defects in the Moral Treatment of Insanity in Public Asylums," "The Sea and Inland Fisheries of Ireland," etc. A Liberal; in favour of a Native Parliament, and of the system called Home Rule for Ireland, also of denominational education, the Permissive Bill a peasant proprietary, etc. Sat for Waterford city from April 1857 to Nov. 1869; has sat for the co. of Waterford since April 1880.—Devonshire Club; 41, Westland-row, Dublin; Stephen's Green Club, Dublin.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The races at La Plata and the Polo match at Flores, form the day's programme, although it is every way probable, the weather was so unfavorable yesterday, that out-door amusements will be impossible and we shall all have ample time to remain at home and study the great question of the day, the German and Spanish war. At any moment we may receive from our brother-editor his code message—War inevitable.

We give in another column the latest news from Spain, it is simply dreadful, and we tremble for the peace of Europe. The Spaniards in this city are most excited, and to-day they hold a meeting which promises to be a stormy one.

On next Thursday a grand farewell dinner will be given at the Cafe de Paris to Mr Robert H Kinch on the occasion of his leaving for Europe. The fashionable members of the Argentine Yacht Club will muster strong on the occasion to quaff off a bumper at parting with one of their most active members. We hope to see Mr Kinch soon back after a pleasant European trip.

The Flores Episcopal Parish Magazine for September was given round yesterday, as usual it is well compiled and full of the most interesting chapters. We read in it that the Rev. Austin West, M.A., will be here next month; he is the new Chaplain to St. John's. The English concert at the Flores Theatre takes place on 22nd inst.

Mr Gabriel Ocampo, so well known in fashionable circles, has lost on his estancia near Azul 18,000 sheep within the last 6 months, and we hear of another estanciero in the South who has lost 35,000 sheep this winter.

We hear that preparations have been made for a match at Flores to-day between the Bees and the Butterflies. It is difficult to say which of these forerunners of Spring will win; but a good match is expected. Play will begin at 2.30. The ground is being considerably improved as regards the playing part; but it still requires a Stand, so that ladies may be the better able to follow the game. No doubt this will be done when the funds of the club permit,

We are glad to see that Thomas Moran about whom so much has been said and written, and who has been nearly two years an inmate of our Penitentiary, is at last at liberty, thanks to the efforts of some gentlemen who humanely interested themselves in his case.

Owing to great pressure on our columns we are obliged to hold for our next, W. P's. letter from Rosario.

It seems to be admitted now that we are to have a change in the Ministry. Dr Paz, Minister of Interior, resigns. We heard the name of his successor, but would not for the world mention it.

The fine steamer Mercurio with Governor Winter on board is expected in to-day or to-morrow.

Yesterday was the Provincial Bank birthday, 62 years old, it was started in 1823. 225 shares of 1000 pats. each all who took shares in the concern lost heavily as the patacon dwindled to the paper dollar. The bank to-day could well afford to recoup all the heirs of the original shareholders the loss, and we trust some independent member of the Board of Directors will propose the measure.

The Cordoba lottery is now becoming most popular, so many prizes fall in this city. Nothing tends more to popularize a lottery than the payment of prizes.

The general belief yesterday was that war between Spain and Germany is inevitable. If Alfonso apologise for the insult to the German flag he will be kicked out, and if he do not, war must ensue, unless by electing to ignore the insult, as coming from a weak Power, and simply break off diplomatic relations. The Dons are in such a furious rage that they wont listen to reason. It appears that their ships arrived at the islands on the 21st ult., but, instead of landing at once and popping up the flag of Old Castille, they pottered along till the 24th, on which day a German gunboat came up, and, under the very noses of the Spaniard, landed a party of marines, five minutes after the anchor was dropped, and took possession of the principal island. Instead of blowing the gunboat out of the water, the Spanish commander confined himself to a protest. This is what so enraged the Madrid mob, who, while dancing on the German flag, cheered like mad for France. This is where the danger lies. We'll bet that France will be too timid to stir, and will leave the Dons in the lurch. The advent of Lord Salisbury to power has forced France to take a back seat. The wounded vanity of Madame is again breaking out in the papers, and, still more furious screeching against John Bull may be expected soon.

The Clerk of the Weather will probably be in a good humour for the races to-day. Sunday was by no means the ticket, yet Parlermo was crowded with the usual lot, who ought to be thoroughly weary of looking at each other by this time.

There was something said yesterday about a possible or probable revolutionary kick-up in Banda Oriental. The same miserable farce as usual, we suppose.

All the Legation and Consular flags braved the breeze yesterday in honour of Brazilian Independence; and the popular representative of the Emperor, Councillor Alencar, was enveloped in friends all day and night at the Legation. We salute him cordially on the auspicious occasion, as also our Brazilian subscribers, who have always been pretty numerous. Long live the Emperor!

Ladies, beware of that truly ridiculous habit you have of carrying your purse in your hand. In Calle Peru on Sunday Mrs. Wenke, lost 50 Nats. by it. A ruffian snatched it from her hand and rushed for cover to the old market. A 'blue' gave chase, but when he got to the market, the purse was still there, but the ruffian and the "rhino" were gone.

The Cabinet is never a comfortab place as the end of a Presidency draw near. There are tremendous rumours afloat about the approaching retirement of the Minister of the Interior. It appears that Tucuman, Santiago Salta, Jujuy and Santa Fé have all declared for Dr. Irigoyen.

What's this in the name of common sense? Sunday's papers announce that the Nat. Government has accepted Mr. Sandoval's proposal for creating docks to hold vessels of 6,000 tons, as sanctioned by Congress in 187!!! This is certainly an opportune moment to disinter an Act fourteen years old, for the sake of spending more money, when the country is on the broad of its back. We really cannot comprehend it.

The Mercedes Fair was opened with great eclat on Sunday. Dr. Irigoyen was "facile princeps" in sheep, and Dr. Frias in Durham cows.

The following is a list of prizes drawn in the Rioja Lottery yesterday:—

The Ciudad de Londres has sent to every fashionable house in town an album circular with a dozen pieces of music and ever so many fashion patterns. They are beautiful, but make paterfamilias groan in spirit.

There is, we fancy, more street trading carried on in Buenos Aires than in any other city South of the line. The latest development is the sending of balls and sarsaparilla by unwashed Ligurians. Mr Chiquito Eibor's feats here last year gave the impulse that has created the demand for 'pelotas'; but we cannot explain the sarsaparilla; although we know lots of people whose complexions would be all the clearer for a good course of it.

There is no auction-room in the world in which a greater variety of objects come under the hammer than the well-known Hotel des Ventes, in the Rue Drouot, in Paris. One of the oddest lots ever 'knocked down' within its wall hitherto has been an elephant; but a hardly less curious and novel object figured in the catalogue of a recent sale. This was nothing less than a throne of Louis XIV., once number four hundred in the inventory of the Crown furniture made out at the beginning of the reign of Louis XV.

The 'vecinos' at Parish, on the Southern Railway, are thinking of petitioning the London Board to change the name of the Station to Perish, as owing to some carelessness on the part of the officials, goods never arrive there without the cases being broken open and other damage done; in fact lots of things perish in or about that station. So the papers say, and we have never yet known a paper, (even a weekly or fortnightly, which has plenty of time to concoct one if so minded) tell a deliberate lie.

The performance of Rigoletto at the National Theatre on Saturday night was a success, although the house should have been fuller. We have never seen a more lovely Gilda than Madlle Pattini; but she was so nervous that she could not do herself justice. Menotti was splendid as Rigoletto. He always reminds us of Ronconi, the greatest Rigoletto that has as yet trod the boards. There are none like him in these days.

Nineteen hundred and seventy nine emigrants have already been fed and fumigated in Martin Garcia Lazaretto since the cholera quarantine began. There are no complaints as yet; but when the first-classers begin to be run in, we may look out for squeals and squalls.

A Spanish painter in Paris has been entrusted with the portrait of the late Juan Carlos Gomez that is to be hung up in the Progreso Club.

The Rossi company, it appears, has not burst up in Rio, as some rival companies said. It will be here at the end of the month.

There was some fun in Calle Defensa on Saturday, when a bare-headed apothecary chased a thief full tilt down the street, in a futile effort to recover his little all, the whole contents of his till, which the 'caco' had boned and bolted with while his back was turned.

The substitution of glass flooring for boards continues to increase in Paris, this being especially the case in those business structures in which the cellars are used as offices. The large central hall at the offices of the Comptoir d'Escompte has been provided with this kind of flooring; and it is said that, although its prime cost is considerably greater than that of boards, glass is in the long run far cheaper, owing to its almost unlimited durability.

Wonders will never cease. A man born blind was lately operated on by a Paris surgeon and can now see as well as anybody. The paper that gives the news says he was restored to sight.

The Iglecistas have got a mortal drubbing in Peru, and Caceres and his Indians are now unpleasantly close to Lima, the citizens of which are shaking in their slippers.

The steam tramway between Ensenada and La Plata is now being laid down. Why use noisy, dirty, oily, smutty Steam, when clean and noiseless Electricity has just proved such a success in railway traction in Ireland and New York?

An unfortunate man went up in a balloon at Orient (France) last month, and has never come down since, and probably never will. What a fate! A corpse floating about in space.

In the gardens of a certain nobleman's country house there happened to be fixed up at different spots painted boards with this request—"Please do not pick the flowers without leave." Some wag got a paint brush and added an s to the last word.

Major Sonino, a turbaned but by no means malignant Turk in the service of Toothpick, the Khedive of Egypt, is now in this country and means to remain a few months. He has come out to study the skin diseases of the latitudes, being a distinguished medical man.

The National Deputies did not think it worth their while to get up a quorum on Friday. It cannot be that there was nothing to vote in the Pension line.

Dr. Avellaneda's health is by no means so bad as reported, and he is not coming back so soon as reported. He is going through a course of treatment under the famous Professor German Sée.

A colleague wants Congress to give poor Uriondo, the composer, a lift. So it might. He is a hard-working man and far more deserving of a helping hand than the lot of muffs that are perpetually going to Europe at the public expense to study the fine arts, or rather pretend to study them.

Fashionable belles are getting rather disgusted and alarmed at the new mania for publishing marriages on the tapis. It appears that much of this kind of news is purely imaginary, and done for a lark. Indignant papas, big brothers and other male relatives are getting very rusty under this new fashionable infliction.

"How long does this train stop for refreshments?" asked a traveller, as he entered a railroad restaurant in Georgia. "It depends on how hungry de conductah am," said the waiter.

Here's queer news from the United States:—"Rails, sleepers, and even tuning forks and grind-stone are now made of glass, the low cost of hard glass castings, about $1.32 per hundred weight, being a strong recommendation.

ELECTRIC RAILWAYS.

Sept. 4, 1885.

To the Editor of the STANDARD.

Dear Sir,

Referring to the notice in the "Editor's Table" to-day relative to the N. York elevated railways, please bear in mind that an electric railway has been in operation in Ireland for some time past, and with such success that the line is now being extended.

The railway is narrow gauge, and starts from Portrush. Perhaps your correspondent there will furnish us with some particulars of the undertaking.

Yours truly,
Palmam qui meruit ferat.

Cedulas A	100¾
Cedulas F	81
Cedulas G	87½
Nat. Bank Certificates	109
National Bonds 5 o/o	70

The new exchange building was inaugurated to-day, under the damp and cheerless influence of inclement weather. The main features of the inauguration were a rather laughable procession through the streets, a stiff rise in the price of gold, champange in discretion and sandwiches 'ad libitum'. The members are proud of the new building, but they felt decidedly uncomfortable in it, and there was a deep growl to-day from the many hundreds who were afflicted with colds, chilly feet r rheumatism.

The lives of the members are too precious to be sacrificed to the clap-trap appearance of a mosaic pavement, and such is the discontent in this regard that very many members have resolved to frequent the Bolsa as little as possible, unless the Camara Syndical put down a wooden floor; in winter the hall and ring will be dismally cold with the present pavement. Brokers who had never suffered from cold feet or rheumatism before, adjourned to lunch to-day with these complaints in their legs and with the fixed determination in their heads that the Camara Syndical should take measures to provide more comforts for those who are obliged to remain nearly all day in the hall.

As the members stood shivering in the grand hall, admiring the ceiling, the British, Argentine, B. Ayrean, Belgian, German and French escutcheons on the walls of the top gallery, they buttoned their top-coats and held on to their hats to resist the cold blast of the East wind that entered by Plaza Mayo and rushed through the building to the Calle Piedad entrance. The current of air at times assumed the violence of a gale and drove many people out of the hall. Such serious drawbacks should be avoided, as they produce a most disagreeable impression, especially on a cold and wet day, and in an atmosphere impregnated with fresh paint and damp, from the furniture and walls.

The above remarks are in connection with the health and comfort of the members, but much remains to be said with regard to the internal arrangements in regard to business. First and foremost, nearly all object to the dark nook into which the ring has been relegated. The ring hall is not lofty enough, and the noise drowns the voices of the brokers; there is a lack of light, as nobody in the hall, without a first-rate telescope, can detect the quotations on the black board; and lastly, the pillars in the hall are so large, and points of communication with the brokers are so few and so small that principals cannot get to see their brokers and see nothing of what is going on. The precincts of the ring are too narrow, and the crowd is as great an inconvenience in the new building as in the old one. The members of the Bolsa all complain of the position of the ring, and sooner or later the magic circle must be transferred to the great hall, where there is more room and all can see what is going on. The present arrangement is ludicrous and is disliked by all.

When we consider what an enormous improvement the new Bolsa is when compared with the old one, it strikes one that there is too sharp a spirit of criticism and that the members may be rather fastidious and exacting; but it is unfortunately too true that there are many reasonable grounds of complaint, and in some regards the old place, bad as it was, can be held up as an example to be followed in the new building. When draughts, cold felt, rheumatism put in a plea alongside with deficient light and faulty accommodation at the ring, the Camara Syndical ought to pay heed and remove the causes of complaint.

There was a holiday appearance about the market this morning, and brokers at the ring felt little inclined to operate on any important scale. A hard tendency, however, became perceptible in the gold premium at an early hour, and although the speculation was not brisk, there was a sharp rise in the market. About $160,000 changed hands for cash. The market opened at 42, ran up to 43, and closed, between buyers and sellers, at 42.80. Sixty thousand were sold for Saturday at 42½ to 42.80. Operations for the end of the month embraced $410,000. The market opened at 41½, rose to 42.80, and closed at 42½. The price for cash is 30 cents above that for the 30th. A few thousand were sold for the middle of September at 42½ and for the and of that month at 41.

Cedulas continue firm. Series A changed hands at 100¼-⅜, G at 87½-½, and F at 81. A few thousand National 5 o/o Bonds were sold at 70. One hundred Certificates were sold for the 30th at 109. Ten thousand Series E were sold for the end of October, to deliver, at 81.

The exchange market continues without alteration. Operations are few and the market is very dull. Rates are quoted at 46⅞ to 47d. Paper money continues abundant, but gold is scarce.

Mr. Gonsalez Arrascaeta, the well-known landbroker, sold to-day eight leagues of land in the VIIth Section of National lands; price reserved, but supposed to be $100,000 % per league. Seller, Mr. Monségur.

The Leibnitz will leave to-morrow with the Belgian mails; she takes a full cargo—over 20,000 bags of grain.

Exchange on Montevideo was passed to-day at par. Small sums were passed on London at 46⅞ to 46⅞d. The Leibnitz will take a small exchange mail to-morrow; the bulk of business remains for the French Packet.

The first operation in the new ring to-day was effected by Mr Emiliano M. Frias and Mr. Otarola; a sale of gold for the 15th at 42½.

The gold market ruled dull during afterhours. The premium closed at 43, buyers for the end of the month. A few hundred thousand dollars changed hands.

After the close of the ring, nearly all the brokers adjourned to the luncheon room and the members were politely invited to toast the health of the building in champagne and to partake of the cold meats on the festive board. At some of the tables the generous wine sparkled in the effervescent toast of several German and British members, who did full honors to the fare, the wine and the Bolsa. The cheer of the moment removed much of the bad impression caused by the cold and the wet-blanket feeling in the morning. The Camara Sindical was mine host, and a generons one, in the precincts of Mammon.

The news from Europe about wool is most unfavorable; it would seem now that the supply is greater than the world's consumption. We feel for our friends in New Zealand and Australia, who will suffer most by the fall in the wool market, as River Plate farmers are always somewhat saved by curso forzoso.

To-morrow being a holiday, there will be no Bolsa, but brokers and others, if the weather is fine, can form a ring of their own on the race course at La Plata.

Mr. R. F. Whiteside, representative of the great Milner's Safe Co., limited, who has arrived from Montevideo, was welcomed on 'Change. The Milner safes are well known in the R. Plate as some of the very best manufactured in England, and many of the large houses here are supplied with those safes in preference to any other. Mr. Whiteside will start immediately for Rosario, and we recommend him to extend his trip to Cordoba and Tucuman, as the country is growing so fast that now people who buy safes have something to put into them.

Messrs. F. Bustamante, A. Roca and G. Soler have bought five manzanas of land, belonging to Mr. M. Sneider, in the vicinity of the Calle Santa Fé, for 185,000 m/n. Mr. Soler, it is rumored, will build a theatre on his part of the land.

According to the report of Washington Bureau of Statistics, about 400,000 immigrants entered the U. States during the fiscal year ending the 30th June last. This compares with a total of 518,592 in 1883-4, of 603,322 in 1882-3, and of 788,992 in 1881-2, in which year the number of immigrants reached its maximum. As will be seen from the following table, which shows the countries from which the immigrants arrived, there has been a falling off in all directions, and the decline is easily accounted for, as the condition of business in the U. States during the past three years has not been such as to encourage immigration. No doubt when trade there revives the flow of emigrants thither will again increase.

Countries from which immigrants arrived—

	1885	1884
England and Wales	48,178	84,054
Ireland	51,567	76,432
Scotland	9,194	18,937
Total in Great Britain	108,939	179,423
Austria	11,164	13,619
Germany	123,293	250,630
Italy	13,587	32,159
Norway	12,181	29,101
Sweden	21,994	64,607
Canada	35,630	98,109

London advices under date 10th ult. give the following:—

"Since our last there has been little movement in South American stocks, and Argentines of 1868, 1871, and 1881 remain at previous quotations. The later issues are 1 to 2 lower. Brazilians are without important change, and the same may be said of B. Ayres and Chilians. Entre Rios stock has risen, probably in view of the successful placing of the late railway loan. Uruguay is practically stationary. As regards stock, whose coupons are not payable in London. Argentine Treasury Bonds have advanced 2. In railway obligations there has been a general improvement.

"Heavy shipments of gold have been made to B. Ayres for the Provincial and other banks. It is asserted that about £500 000 will be sent for the Provincial Bank of B. Ayres. We may note, with surprise, that some speculators in the R. Plate are sending gold to this country.

"In a list of joint-stock companies that have been struck off the register, in conformity with the Companies' Act of 1880, we observe the following having reference to South America: Bahia Central Railway Co., B. Ayres National Tramway Co., General Spanish and Spanish-American Agency.

"Messrs. Baring Bros. give notice that bonds of the B. Ayres 6 o/o Loan of 1873, amounting to £19,500, have been drawn in conformity with the contract, and announce that the numbers so drawn are redeemable at par on 1st October next, after which interest on the same will cease. The numbers are published in our present publication.

"Mr. Arch. E. Pinching has accepted the general management of the West Argentine Gold Co.'s operations, and will shortly proceed to the Argentine Republic to take charge. The staff on the spot will at once be increased by the despatch of Capt. J. Moorish, three miners, and a smith, by the mail of 24th August. The average result of four assays of stone, taken from the North Cross Cut, proves to be 3 ozs. 5 cwts. 47 grains of pure gold per ton, and the reef is five feet thick.
